

According to your answers to this quiz, your asthma is under control. Congratulations! If your asthma management ever changes, please take this quiz again to find out if you should seek help from your health care provider.

